

THE REPORT

The Journal of the International Institute of Marine Surveying

Read by Marine Surveyors around the world.

Media Pack 2014

INTRODUCTION

The Report is the magazine for members of the International Institute of Marine Surveying, affectionately known by the acronym IIMS. Published for several years, it has never been the Institute's policy to attract advertising from companies wishing to target this niche, but highly influential worldwide audience of marine professionals.

However, the Institute is now accepting full colour advertising from suitable companies who seek to connect with Marine Surveyors, but only to a maximum of ten pages per issue.

The Report is published electronically each quarter using state of the art magazine e-reader software identical in format to the one you are now reading this media pack in. In addition, a few hard copies of each edition are digitally printed for members who still prefer that form of delivery.

As a key benefit for advertisers, the magazine e-reader software automatically turns any email or web address into a clickable link to make it easy for an IIMS member to make direct contact with you, or to view your organisation's web site.

The International Institute of Marine Surveying is an independent, non-political organisation promoting the professionalism, recognition and training of marine surveyors worldwide.

The IIMS is a membership organisation and is the largest organisation of its kind in the world. It seeks to represent its industry to government and non governmental organisations such as the International Marine Organisation (IMO), Coastguards, insurance companies and ship owners.

Editorial Content

The aim is to communicate, educate, inform and engage with IIMS members and the wider marine industry using The Report as a medium to do so.

Although The Report is a membership magazine, the editorial policy is to include content from members and non members of the IIMS alike. In each issue there is a blend of marine industry and member news from around the shipping and boating world. There are technical articles from marine surveyors and other learned contributors. And there is a selection of other general marine themed articles.

Our aim is to ensure that in each issue there is sufficient editorial content in each issue to appeal to all IIMS members, no matter if they be big ship, or small craft surveyors.

Circulation and Readership

The Report is liked, respected and well read by the IIMS membership and others engaged in the wider marine industry around the world.

In a recent survey amongst its members, the IIMS asked them to rate the quality and usefulness of the publication. 78% said the Report magazine was excellent or good.

The Report is circulated quarterly to approximately 1,000 plus IIMS members and students studying the BTEC HNC and HND course in Marine Surveying. (Please note membership and student numbers fluctuate from quarter to quarter). IIMS members are located in over 90 countries. Each quarter they are notified by email upon publication and are given the link to enable them to browse and read the magazine.
